PATENTED CABLE DUCT SYSTEM

A growing focus on sustainability has caused a shift from creating new buildings to renovating and recycling existing constructions. There is a growing need for a more efficient, time- and cost effective workflow. As a contribution to this new way of working, Canalit and electrical installers worked together to develop System25 cable ducts and the Canalit tapes.

TWO CABLE DUCTS IN ONE

The double-layered bottom can be torn out to fit both wire (with double layered bottom) and cable (with single layered bottom). Installers save money by not having to keep two different cable ducts in stock. Additionally, the foil on the lid ensures that the duct stays clean and undamaged during transport, storage and installation. This prevents waste, cleaning, and saves time and money!

CANALIT IN BLACK

The demand for dark cable ducts for use in "open" ceilings has grown significantly. Canalit is responding to this market need with the new black System25 duct. Naturally with detachable double layered bottom, protective foil on the lid and packed in foil.
